Hi

Yes - it appears that the line in this video specific to 'stopped the sale of baby body parts' has been deemed an inflammatory statement that is likely to evoke a strong negative reaction. If this is omitted from the video it will be permitted to serve.

Please let me know if you have any additional questions!

Hey team,

We had a tweet that we were promoting for one of our clients that ended up getting suspended over the weekend because it does not follow Twitter's Ads Policies. I have attached a screenshot of what we are currently seeing on our end. While we have currently switched the tweet that we are promoting in this campaign, I wanted to see if you had more context as to why this tweet would be disapproved. Please let us know if there's anything else we can provide regarding this request.

Thanks so much for your help!

Best,
